Retain Your Technology Experts with this Simple Learning Solution

Leverage the Unlimited Product Learning Subscription (UPLS) to train your technology experts who help understand and solve your business problems and drive your business to even greater success. This solution is for customers who are looking for the convenience of having an online learning solution for their workforce that allows them to train employees on any platform, as time allows, while continuing to manage their daily workloads.

For Implementers, global companies with several divisions, remote workforces or data centers, this utility training service with its vast amount of offerings will provide a full breadth of content for multiple learner roles. Because of the simplicity for allowing learners to train anywhere and for the lifetime of the subscription, you will be able to track progress, determine the level of readiness and avoid the high costs of traditional training methods while preparing your employees.

Take Advantage of this Key Oracle Product Learning Solution:

Give your employees access to Oracle-developed courseware and lab environments that provide real-world training on Oracle Database, Java, PeopleSoft, E-Business Suite and JD Edwards EnterpriseONE applications, and more.

Help employees succeed by providing them with the information they need to pass industry recognized certification exams that demonstrate their knowledge and on the job skill capabilities.

Maintain your competitive edge by providing your employees with a modern, digital learning experience, ideal for multiple roles within your organization.
